Monograph Manuscripts in Progress:

The Poetics of Tradition (monograph). This manuscript provides a systematic, constructive approach to a field of study that has typically been treated more in a historical register. Within and surpassing the immediate context of Francophone ressourcement thought—privileging the theological but also engaging literature, art, and music—this book will consider the broader themes that are implied in and by the operation of Catholic tradition: questions of repetition, temporality, linearity, continuity, rupture, preservation, language, semiotics, and memory. This book is also about the experience of reading and re-reading, about the rediscovery of texts and lines of interpretation which open and reopen a full range of hermeneutical possibilities across time, geography, space, and even religious confession or non- confession. In general, this work raises questions of both theological and hermeneutical method particularly on the question of how sources are and can be retrieved within a Catholic manifold. This systematic account of ressourcement extends the interpretive field beyond a specific moment that may be of interest only to church historians, as will be manifestly clear in the book's construction of tradition as non-identical repetition in critical dialogue with a range of genres, figures, and texts including Charles Péguy (Clio, Portal of the Mystery of Hope, Notes on Bergson and Descartes), Kierkegaard (Repetition), Henri Bergson (Time and Free Will, An Introduction to Metaphysics, Matter & Memory, Creative Evolution, et al), Gilles Deleuze (Bergsonism, Difference and Repetition), Catherine Pickstock (Repetition & Identity), and David Jones (In Parenthesis, Anathemata, The Sleeping Lord and Other Poems). Both Oxford University Press and Catholic University of America Press have both expressed an interest in the project.

The Baptism of Desire: Kristeva's Theological Other (monograph). This manuscript in progress constructs a dialogue between psychoanalyst and literary critic Julia Kristeva and Swiss Catholic theologian Hans Urs von Balthasar, considering thematically the shared themes of desire, eroticism, the maternal, sainthood, language, the porous subject, gender/sexual difference, and (Christological) abjection, violence and sacrifice.
